

5 things you ought to know about protecting your events

1 What uncertainties do you face?

Non Appearance

Due to illness, death, an accident or travel delay, the artiste is unable to perform.

National Mourning

Period of national mourning following the death of a country's leader or person of significance.

Terrorist Attacks

Terrorist attacks or threats in the vicinity of the venue close to the event dates.

Communicable Disease

Outbreak or threat of outbreak warranting closure of the venue by the authorities.

Adverse Weather

Extreme weather conditions such as wind, lightning and rain may render a venue inaccessible or pose a threat to safety of those attending.

Other Perils

Strikes, political violence, a government issued travel advisory or fire damage to the event venue.

Natural Catastrophes

Earthquakes, volcanic ash, typhoon, snow storm and floods may:

- thwart travel plans of participants, speakers or performing artists;
- cause ingress/egress difficulties; or
- lead to venue closure.

Liabilities

Participants, spectators or audience injured as a result of an accident during the event, including food poisoning, collapsing stage or props, fire, terrorist attacks.

2 What can be insured?

Gross Revenue - revenue from ticket sales, participation fees, sponsorship revenue and advertising revenue.

Costs and Expenses - irrecoverable costs and expenses that have been incurred.

Additional Expenses - costs and expenses incurred to reduce or prevent a cancellation, interruption or postponement that appears likely to occur.

Extra Expenses incurred if tickets need to be refunded or due to failure to vacate the venue on time.

Public Relations Expenses - fees paid to a public relations firm for event branding protection consequent upon a cancellation or abandonment.

Loss of your money at the event location or while in transit to and from the bank.

Damage to property at the event location.

Liability for injury to participants, attendees, audience or other third parties, including liability for physical damage to others' property.

3 Who can be insured?

Promoters

Event organisers

Stakeholders

Sponsors

Food and Beverage companies

Broadcasters

Investors

Anyone with a financial interest in the events

4 What does Chubb offer?

EVENT INSURANCE

PROTECTION FOR:

- ★ Financial losses arising from cancellation, interruption or postponement
- ★ Damage to property and loss of money
- ★ Third party liability for bodily injury and property damage claims
- ★ Personal accident cover for participants, audience and volunteers

Contact a Chubb broker or agent to find out more.

65 6299 0988

5 What events do we insure?

